

Foreshortening: illustrating an object as closer than it really is. In this picture, the cat's tail is much larger than the rest of the body. This is to show that it is closer than the rest of the drawing. This gives the photo depth!

